

Donor Privacy Policy

The Power House takes your privacy seriously and treats all financial information about any transaction you have with The Power House as highly confidential. In addition, The Power House does not share e-mail addresses or phone numbers of any of our donors or constituents. Occasionally, we are asked by other non-profits to share names and addresses for a one time use for our annual report or grant submissions.

You can opt out of sharing any of your personal information by completing the form below:

I wish to opt out of sharing any of my personal information, including my name and address, to any third party.

Name

Email

Address

City State ZIP

Country

In this or any other matter, it is The Power House's policy to be responsible to you and follow your instructions as expeditiously as possible. If you wish to add additional comments or instructions, please do so in the box below.